

A comprehensive guide to running a successful asbestos claim

LIVE STREAMED
Tuesday, 15 April 2025
or view on demand

Stephen Glynn and Daniel Easton will deliver a comprehensive A to Z guide to running successful asbestos disease claims from start to finish.

This intensive one-day course is aimed at trainees and practitioners wanting to re-skill themselves in this highly technical area of industrial disease practice so they can master the intricacies of running an asbestos disease claim.

The course is also suited to existing industrial disease specialists and team leaders seeking to refresh and update their know-how and expertise in this fast developing field of practice.

Topics will cover*:

- Use of asbestos and the diseases it causes
- Evolving awareness of the hazard, proving foresight, variable standards for liability
- De minimis exposure, asymptomatic diseases
- The latest on the special causation rules for mesothelioma and lung cancer
- Contributory negligence
- Tracing defendants and insurers
- Which insurer is liable for historic exposure, apportionment
- The Diffuse Mesothelioma Payment Scheme
- The Pre-action Protocol and the Mesothelioma Practice Direction
- Restoration of dissolved companies and The Third Parties Rights Act
- Tips on preparing statements and other evidence
- Quantum and state benefits

*"The best APIL course
I have ever attended.
Thank you very much."*

"I think this was the best APIL course I have been to; as someone moving into this type of work it was exactly as I had hoped. Please thank both speakers".

Speaker details:

Daniel Easton is a partner at Leigh Day in London. Daniel specialises in complex personal injury claims, particularly asbestos disease claims. Daniel acts for claimants throughout the UK and regularly represents claimants in the High Court and at inquests on asbestos disease matters.

Stephen Glynn is a barrister at Deka Chambers. Stephen, called in 1990, has an exclusive personal injury and clinical negligence practice. His PI practice comprises predominantly industrial disease and employer's liability work for claimants. In particular, his experience of asbestos-induced disease is extensive and includes regular work in the High Court in London. He also has considerable experience of HAVS and deafness work.
